Colleen's practice focuses on representing creditors and other interested parties in complex Chapter 11 cases and related adversarial proceedings.

She has experience in commercial litigation matters involving intellectual property issues, the Consumer Fraud Act, fraudulent transfers, breach of contract disputes, and emergent proceedings seeking temporary restraints and injunctions for clients in pharmaceuticals, real estate, retail, and other sectors.

After law school, Colleen served as term clerk to the Hon. Rosemary Gambardella of the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the District of New Jersey. Prior to joining Lowenstein Sandler, she worked at a New Jersey-based law firm representing clients in both bankruptcy and commercial litigation matters, as well as in real estate transactions.

Jeffrey Cohen argued contested issues in a disclosure statement hearing of retailer Fred's in the U.S. Bankruptcy Court for the District of Delaware. As reported in Law360, Cohen represented concerns on behalf of the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors regarding comprehensive releases included in the Chapter 11 plan, which would bar stakeholders from pursuing claims against former directors and officers of the now defunct Fred's. The Lowenstein team includes Jeffrey L. Cohen, Nicole Fulfree, Michael A. Kaplan, Colleen M. Maker, and Lindsay H. Sklar.
